

UK Laser Association

LASER 4.7 YOUTH WORLDS

ROYAL VARUNA Y.C., THAILAND

Wednesday, 31st March 2010

Report from John Stanley-Whyte

Day 2

Another fine day in paradise.

Up early (ish) to register and make sure we were ready for measurement. Andy collected his charter boat while the others made ready and all sailed through the measurement process. We have been getting to know the other teams and key players.

Kat negotiated a share with the HKG coach for a practice session today and she and Niall put the guys through their paces in the prevailing SW at 12kts. Getting to grips with the challenging chop was the key aim today with all the GBR sailors up to speed with the HKG team.

Sailors and coaches now relaxing in the YC pool – rough life this sailing game! Focus back on tomorrow for the Practice Race followed by the opening ceremony which stars an elephant, fly past and lantern lighting.